BUCKNER AND RANDOLPH SENT BEFORE REFEREE.

Shrewd Move of International Committee Men in Leaving Them Out of Complaint in Farrelly Sult -Justice Nash Issues Examination Order-Forgery Charge

Vice-President Thomas A. Buckner and Treasurer Edmund Randolph of the New York Life Insurance Company had an exciting time yesterday owing to the acivity of Samuel Unterryer and his assolates in the International Policyholders Association. Early in the afternoon Lawyer Abraham Benedict, from Mr. Untermyer's office, went before Justice Nash in the Supreme Court and asked for an order directing Mr. Buckner and Mr. Randolph to appear before a referee and be examined for the purpose of securing from them depositions that could be submitted as evidence before Justice Bischoff on Friday in the injunction proceedings brought by Stephen Farrelly against the New York Life as a corporation and against twentyone of the twenty-four directors of the company as individuels. Mr. Farrelly is a candidate for trustee of the company on the nternational policyholders ticket.

On Mr. Farrelly's complaint an order had been issued for the company and the twenty-one directors to show cause why an injunction should not be issued restraining the company from using its funds in sending out literature and in otherwise campaigning for the administration ticket. The order is returnable to-morrow. Three directors not named as defendants are Vice-President Buckner, Treasurer Ran-dolph and Vice-President Darwin P. Kingsley. They are wanted as witnesses. Were they named as defendants they could not have been subpoenaed by the plaintiff. have been subposnaed by the plaintiff.
Lawyer Benedict submitted a list of questions yesterday morning to Mr. Buckner and Mr. Randolph to be answered and then sworn to in order that the information might be presented to the court in the form of an affidavit. Both officials refused to comply. Vice-President Kingsley could

Justice Nash granted the order, which calls for the appearance of Mr. Buckner and Mr. Randolph before Russell L. Tarbox, as referee, at 60 Wall street. He made it read Lawyer Benedict, with a process server, then went to the New York Life building and tried to serve the order. John H. McIntosh, general counsel for the company, was there and refused to allow Mr. Buckner and Mr. Randolph to be served.

Mr. Benedict then took the matter to the office of Sheriff Hayes and Assistant Deputy office of Sheriff Hayes and Assistant Deputy Sheriff Metzger was ordered to serve the papers. When the deputy sheriff showed up at the New York Life offices General Counsel McIntosh did not try to prevent the serving of the papers; he merely denounced the proceedings as outrageous. The deputy sheriff shocked Vice-President Buckner by handing him a dollar. Mr. Buckner wanted to know what it was for. He was informed that the money was to pay for his mileage. to know what it was for. He was informed that the money was to pay for his mileage to 60 Wall street. Mr. Buckner laughed and pocketed the dollar. Mr. Randolph was served without any trouble.

It was 4:30 o'clock by this time and General Counsel McIntosh called up Referee Tarbox on the telephone and asked that the hearing on the telephone and asked that the hearing be adjourned until to-day. He said that Mr. Buckner was hungry and wanted to hurry home for dinner. Referee Tarbox said that the two men should appear before him forthwith, as the order read. Half an hour later the two appeared at Mr. Tarbox's office. Mr. McIntosh wasn't with them, but on the way down they picked up Lawyer William Nelson Cromwell.

Mr. Cromwell asked the referee for an adjournment. He said that he had just adjournment. He said that he had just received the papers in the case and therefore did not wish his clients to enter appearance in response to Justice Nash's order. Lawyer Benedict insisted on the two being entered and sworn. Mr. Crom-well contended that if his clients were sworn ey would forfeit their right in objecting to Referee Tarbox ruled against Cromwell and the latter then advised his clients to refuse to be sworn. For a time things looked for Mr. Buckner and Mr. Randolph Referee Tarbox had the power to send both to Ludlow Street Jail in contempt and for a time his manner indicated that he might

An agreement was finally reached whereby an adjournment was taken until 11 o'clock this morning, when all hands will assemble in the office of the referee and then proceed to Justice Nash's court, where the entire matter will be threshed out.

An affidavit charging forgery against the New York Life management was filed with the County Clerk yesterday and will he included in the papers that are to be put in evidence in the Farrelly suit. Joseph A. Rock, a former agent of the New York ife, went to the offices of the International olicyholders' Association yesterday and id that literature containing sample hallots for the administration ticket were being sent out by some one connected with the company and that with this literature was a letter signed with his name. Mr. Rock said he had not been connected with the company for two years and did not sign any of the letters. In his affidavit Mr. Rock said that when he was in the company's employ he wrote a policy for Mrs. Mary A. Sinckler, who lives at 8 Beekman avenue, borough now lives at 8 Beekman avenue, borough of The Bronx. She is still a policyholder. On October 23, 1906, she brought to his house a printed circular letter which purported to bear his signature, which she received by mail together with a ballot for the administration ticket. He says he neither signed nor authorized the letter.

NORFOLK & WESTERN DIVIDEND. Put Ip to a 5 Per Cent. Rate-Talk of Directors of the Norfolk and Western, meeting in Philadelphia yesterday, put the common stock of the company on a 5 per cent. basis by declaring a semi-annual 5 per cent, basis by declaring a semi-annual dividend of 2½ per cent. The dividend is payable on December 21 to holders of record December 5. The new dividend basis is an increase of 1 per cent, over the rate paid in the last year and 2 per cent, over that paid prior to December, 1905. It was reported that the directors had decided to issue a part of the $34,000,000 new stock recently authorized and that arrangements for the sale of $18,000,000 to $20,000,000 had been practically completed. There was no confirmation of this report from the directors or from New York lankers who in the past have acted as bankers who in the past have acted as fiscal agents for the road.

Early in September, when the Pennsylvania sold half its Baltimore and Ohio holdings to Union Pacific interests through Kuhn. Loeb & Co., it sold 190,000 shares of Norfolk and Western to Kuhn, Loeb & Co. It has since been reported that this Norfolk and Western stock had either passed into the hands of Henry H. Rogers, to whom control of Norfolk and Western is desirable for his Deepwater-Tidewater railroad, or was held for Mr. Rogers's account. Whatever the stage of this reported transaction, there has nothing in yesterday's meeting to indicate that the control of the road had passed from the hands of the Pennsylvania and bankers allied with the Pennsylvania management.

GOSSIP OF WALL STREET.

Renewal yesterday of the seiling of United States Steel which had been so conspicuous on Tuesday forenoon naturally aroused considerable interest, and the inference from it was that a bear clique had begun operations in the general market, choosing that stock as the one in which a decline would have the most far reaching effect. The news on the stock for many weeks has been of the most bullish character and has resulted in the opening of a considerable speculative account for the rise, and on this the bears base their hopes of being able to force liquidation. Nothing produces such distrust as a substantial decline in an important stock like Steel becomes disturbed at the very point where it was strongest the effect must be important requires nerve to make an attack of this kind, but when it succeeds a rich barvest in gathered. The fact that the bear party has had the nerve to make the attack shows how aggressive it is, but equally aggressive opera-tions have failed before and the present campaign may be but another addition to the list

Reading, Union Pacific and Southern Pacific. There was an appearance of bear pressure with little evidence of influential support The trading was very dull, except in the last hour, when the volume of business increased on the decline, the large interests apparently taking no part in what was little more than a traders' market, with the more important members of the fraternity operating on the

That a section of Wall Street loves to be humbugged is inferred from the success which still follows the old trick of giving orders to a house supposed to represent this, that or the other interest when it is desired to secure a other interest when it is desired to secure a following in a particular stock. This was worked in St. Paul yesterday as it had been many times before, a big buying order being intrusted to one of the so-called Standard Oil houses with a view to giving a degree of strength which could be availed of by speculative interests to sell stocks through the general list. An opportune time was chosen, for when the buying began the stock did not started talk of a scarcity when on the rise extent and gave a totally different aspect to the prospects of the bullish operations. the appearance of an increase in the supply the buyers retreated, and so did the price.

Since the Bank of England raised its rate to 6 per cent, money has been flowing into that institution at a very rapid rate and the probability is that the forthcoming statement will show a decided improvement over the one issued last week. By next week the bank will again be in a strong position.

It is of course a matter for congratulation that the Bank of England is retrieving its position, for whatever New York may become in the future London is undoubtedly the financial centre of the world to-day, and disturbances there are felt with greater or less force in every country of the globe. Had conditions there become very serious there is no doubt that heavy liquidation of American stocks must have followed for the account of foreign holders and for local speculators who took advantage of the easier money con-ditions abroad, when the supply of funds here was limited, to transfer their borrowing to the other side. The London joint stock banks encouraged such operations until conditions arose in which drastic measures had to be resorted to, but there can be no doubt of New York's entire ability to absorb without serious inconvenience whatever stocks may be sent here, provided the dumping process does not go on at toe great a rate.

Conditions all over the world are much the agme as those which have prevailed here during the last year as a result of the insumciency of the circulating medium. The production of gold is enormous but has not kept pace with the tremendous commercial activity here and elsewhere. Few people realize, for instance, how active the cotton industry has been in England, but a light is thrown on this matter by the fact that the increase in the pro-ductive capacity in Lancashire in the last year has been one-third of the increase in the productive capacity in all the Southern States in the last twenty years, not withstand ing that in this period the growth of the cotton weaving industry in the South has been a matter of pride to most Americans. In Germany the bank rate is 6 per cent., although business conditions there are excellent, the the great commercial activity. So practically all around and probably the best thing that could happen would be a period of rest in the security markets until bullish operations could be conducted without endangering commer-

With a contango of 8 per cent, on American stocks in London and a prevailing rate of about 4% per cent. for call money here it is natural that bankers should anticipate a con-siderable reduction in the account open in Americans by the time of the next settlement two weeks hence. The difference of two cents in the pound between demand and cables was not without significance in the whose business relations with various commercial interests entitle his views to a great deal of consideration strongly commends the action taken by Secretary Shaw for the relief of the money situation on the ground that "it will furnish a valuable object lesson on flexi-ble currency." The point is well taken. Bankers have differed in their opinions as to whether or not an emergency currency should be resorted to for tiding over the annual period of money stringency when crop moving was in progress and the general business of the country most active, and perhaps in no way could a preponderance of opinion to ward by giving the scheme a trial on a scale sufficient to afford appreciable relief while still so small as to convey no real danger of in-

A house which is believed to receive inspiration on the Hill stocks from the highest source says in its market letter this week: "Conspicuous for business expansion, North-ern Pacific stands first among the great railroad systems of the world, as a study of its recent annual report and of the reports for preceding years will show. The gross earnings of Northern Pacific for last year were $61,223,475, a growth of nearly 100 per cent. over $32,560,983 for the fiscal year ended June 30, 1901, just before the present efficient management assumed control. The last year has been one of marvellous prosperity for the road, as a gain of $10,500,500 over the previous twelve months shows, a rate of increase single year which has been rarely equalled in the history of railroad operation. The extraordinary growth thus reflected comes mainly from the great increase in freight traffic which has been accompanied mainly by increased benefits to the public in the way of improved service, decreased rates, higher wages, liberal expenditures and larger taxes, the last named item alone last year being $2,213,000, as against $1,401,000 for 1905. The surplus of Northern Pacific available for dividends five years ago was $9,000,000; in the year just closed it was $22,000,000, or slightly over 14 per cent. on the stock. With a sotal crop harvest never surpassed and an increased general freight traffic assured by the great business activity the earning outlook for the coming year is one of brilliant promise, and the results may sur-prise even the most optimistic believers in the value of the company's securities." When a Hill house, calling attention to the Hill stocks, favorably mentions Canadian Pacific as a sharer in the prosperity of a territory "renowned for its phenomenal traffic development" the fact is made clearer than before that no enmities have been created by Mr. Hill's project for a through line from

So general was the expectation of an inorease to 5 per cent. in the Norfolk and West-ern dividend that the announcement that directors had approved a semi-annual dis-tribution of 2% per cent. produced no effect whatever on the market as a whole or on the price of the stock itself.

Some brokers seem to be unable to see why the amount of emergency currency to be issued by the banks—why he did not make it $20,000,000 or $30,000,000. The reason is plain. The law provides that only $3,000,000 of bank circulation can be retired in each calenda month, and the Secretary could not do otherwise than confine his relief within limits where all could be retired so as not to interfere with a renewal of a similar plan next fall. As a in the period of less than five months from March 15 to August 10 as much of the new currency can be retired as the law would allow for six calendar months by reserving March and August exclusively for this purpose. A bank wishing to put out some of the new circulation must give notice when it in-tends to retire it, and in the order of precedence the whole period from March to August both included, will be reserved for this purpose to the exclusion of other circulation. With this fact in view it can be easily seen that while Mr. Shaw might have confined the measure of his relief to $15,000,000 he could not have extended it to $20,000,000 and have left even a short period between the time when the time at which it might again be necessary to put it out. Without such a period the quality of elasticity which it is intended to impart would be lacking.

IRON AND STEEL.

Advancing Market for Spot Foundry Iron -Increasing Demands for Light Rails.

The fast pace made by the pig iron markets for a long period is conditioned for a break-neck finish to the year in prompt foundry iron. In yesterday's market important founders paid $23.75@$24 at furnace for spot No. 2 X Northern foundry, and sales of a few carloads were made of the same description of ron on the basis of $24.50, at furnace. Spot Southern iron is on the basis of $20 for No. 2 foundrymen who are buying spot iron at the foregoing prices have outstanding contracts with certain Northern and Southern furnaces for round tonnages of iron bought during June and July, on account of which the major portion is due to the buyers. First quarter of 1907 Southern foundry is fetching the basis of $17.50 for No. 2 foundry at Birmingham. A large tonnage of Alabama foundry for the first half of next year was sold yesterday on the basis of $17 for No. 2 foundry at Birmingham. Forward delivery Northern iron fetching $22@$22.50 for No. 2 X at furnaces. Steelmaking irons are strong and unchanged. Several lots of Scotch foundry iron are conditioned for arrival at this port during November and December. British pig iron markets are buoyant under the influence of the belief that American necessities for foundry iron onward to May next will draw for large tonnages on English and Scotch furnaces. Two important Southern foundry iron makers are stacking iron due to customers because a sufficient number of cars cannot be had for the mineral trades. Car conditions in the Southern iron and coke trades are going from bad to worse, mainly by reason of the divert ing of cars to the cotton trade.

Coke is active and strong. For best foundry grades quotations are $3.75@34; furnace grades, $2.90@$3.20. At present the opper mining interests are pressing for coke, of which all copper works in the Southwest are short. A number of men in the copper mining industry are now at the coke ovens trying to accelerate shipments. The pros-pect of short fuel supplies within a few weeks of the time when railroads may be hampered by snow and ice is setting the nerves of coke consumers on edge.

In the steel trades normal conditions exist Most of the mills are sold to full capacities well beyond July next, and bright prospects are reflected all around the markets. The market for rails required by electric roads is active. Contracts on the boards of constructing engineers in electric railroad work to be completed within 1907 call for upward of 800,000 tons of steel rails. For rails of 30 lbs. and upward, the mileage of new roads, and for additions to existing roads in the South and West for which rails will be wanted in the last half of 1907, is estimated at 1,250,000

The London speculative market closed at £98 2s. 6d. for spot and forward standard warrants. Best selected is at £95 for business between metal merchants and consumers. Several specifications for electrolytic copper for the fequire-ments of European chemical manufacturers are about to be closed for deliveries during the first quarter of 1907. The sulphate trade is opening broadly with a number of important firms depending upon American supplies for the bulk of requirements during next year. The markets for old copper are strong, with prospects of an early advance. The small amount of old copper brought out at home and abroad under the high prices indicates that there is little old metal in reserve.

Pig tin is firm at 43% a 44c. London closed at £198 for spot and three months. Owing to the enormous demands for metal wares, in part of pig tin for the holiday trade, the consumption of this metal in the Eastern and Middle States is making new high records in flat and hollow wares.

SUGAR TRUST DEMURS.

Pleads That Elkins Law Postdates $20,000 Repate Items.

Two demurrers against rebate indictments were filed in the United States Circuit Court vesterday on behalf of the American Sugar Refining Company. These are filed against the indictment of two counts which accuses the American Sugar Refining Company and the American Sugar Refining Company of New York, the holding and Company of New York, the holding and local companies of the trust respectively, of having in the spring of 1903 received more than $20,000 in rebates from the Western Transit Company, the lake carrying branch of the New York Central.

The demurrers, which are the first which the trust has filed so far against any of the bills accusing it of rebating, raise the point that the offences complained of were committed, if at all, before the passage of the Elkins law in February, 1908, although according to the bill the moneys involved were paid over after the law became effective. The Government contends that while the arrangements were well under way before the passage of the law they were completed after it became effective, and thus constitute as grave an offence as if committed in toto after that date.

Offers for Only $6,000,000 Increase Received-Some Not Acceptable.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 24.-The Treasury officers are not entirely satisfied with the attitude of the national banks toward Secretary Shaw's new order offering to permit the national depository banks to increase circulation up to the limit of $18,000,000 in the aggregate. Some of these offers were not acceptable because each of these banks proposed to issue an amount greater than the Secretary was willing to oncede. EMERALDS OF COLOMBIA.

Prosecution of Suarez Stops and Maybe

He'll Tell Where He Got Them. The trial of Manuel Suarez for attempted smuggling came to an abrupt close yesterday in the United States Circuit Court, Criminal Branch. Suarez, it is charged, tried to smuggle about $15,000 worth of uncut and cut emeralds into this country from the Oceanic a few weeks ago. Statements were made at the time of his arrest that the jewels were really the property of the Colombian Government and that Suarez, who is a Colombian farmer, had acquired them from some of the peons who work the emerald mines near Bogota, which are owned by the Government, and was returning from an unsuccessful attempt to sell them abroad. Lewis M. Phillips, around the Colombian capital but avers that the stones are not the property of the Colombian Government.

The abrupt close came yesterday when Assistant United States District Attorney C. S. Houghton announced that on stipulation with Mr. Phillips the Government had decided to withdraw a juror. Mr. Houghton said that this was done to give the Government a chance to proceed against the stones in a civil action. Suarez was released in the custody of his counsel.
